Registered of Students are to follow degree courses by the Academic, Student Affairs & Publication Division. Every student entering the university should register as a student of the university. Subsequently, they should extend their registration at the beginning of each academic year. Registration of students who do not report for lecturer within one week of the commencement of the academic year will be cancelled and action will be taken to admit a similar member of students. If a student registered for a course does not attend the course on medical grounds she/he should inform the University Medical Officer of such absence. On the recommendation of the Medical Officer, a written request may be made to the dean of the relevant faculty seeking a postponement of the registration for the next year. However the final decision on this will be made by the Senate on the recommendation of the Faculty Board.

Along with the first registration, each student will be issued with a student record book, student identity card and a student hand book. It is the responsibility of the student to keep these safely. If a student misplaces his/her student record book or the student identity card he/she should promptly report it to the Academic, Student Affairs & Publications Division. He/She will be required to pay a fine determined by the University to obtain a copy.

Each faculty will issue the subject combination relevant to the course, subject syllabus and examination criteria. Students are advised to obtain these from the faculty offices or relevant academic departments.

The ITRC has eight (08) networked computer labs which comprise of over 500 state of the art computers. All computers at the ITRC are equipped with up-to-date original licensed operating systems and software under a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) signed with the Microsoft Corporation. Out of the labs, Seven Labs operate on a scheduled timetable under the supervision of a lecturer. The remaining lab which is known as the “Internet lab” is allocated to the students’ internet and other computer- related needs, and comprises of 50 computers. Though these labs are separately located, the ITRC has a facility which enables audio and the video broadcasting of one lecture to other labs.

The ITRC offers its services from 8.00am to 8.30pm during weekdays and from 8.00am to 6.00pm during the weekends for undergraduate and post-graduate students. In order to provide a high quality service to its user’s, the ITRC is staffed by professionally qualified and experienced team headed by a Coordinator – a senior academic from the Department of Information Technology of the faculty.

Each and every undergraduate using the ITRC has a separate login account with secured network storage. Any students can use this storage to safely store the files created during their academic work, and access it from any lab in the ITRC network. Further, they can copy and take out any files required into external storage devices using a special software facility in the ITRC.

When students require to reset their login passwords, the ITRC developed Passwords Reset System enables the students to reset passwords by themselves.

Computer-based practical examinations conducted at the FMSC are facilitated exclusively at the ITRC. With its current computer and network resource capacity, 480 students can be accommodated during a single session at the ITRC. Examinations are carried out using a Learning Management System. Further, an Exam Management System developed by ITRC is used when practical examinations are conducted.

As an additional benefit of the Memorandum of Understanding, signed with the Microsoft, the latest original licensed software and operating systems developed by Microsoft are provided to students and staff by the ITRC. The ITRC further maintains a Software Image Burning System to allow students to copy the software by themselves.

In addition to scheduled lab sessions, extra lectures, programs and workshops are conducted at the ITRC from time to time. For this purpose, the ITRC maintains an Online Application System accessible through the ITRC website. A digital notice board at the entrance to the ITRC displays details of sessions currently carried out at the ITRC for the benefit of its users.

Annexur - 4

Guidelines introduced to control ragging in Universities and other Higher Educational Institutes.

Ragging was earlier intended for students to get to know each other and develop cordial relationship among themselves. Ragging was in existence in the university system all over the world from the distant past. In contrast, the system of ragging in Sri Lankan Universities is very dangerous and has brought death to many students. The ragging has become so fearful that it has caused physical and mental disabilities to many students. In many instances, ragging is done to particular groups of students or classes, or with the intention of installing political ideals of particular groups upon others. Taken as a whole, the unpleasant incidents related to ragging, and especially the threats to the lives of others are outside the scope of 'socialization' claims made by the raggers. Most of these incidents take place during the period of registration of new students.

In order to control this situation, Act No. 20 of 1998 on ragging and other forms of criminal acts was introduced. According to this Act ragging means causing bodily or mental damage to a student or any member of the staff of any educational institute.

Forms of ragging

A person engaged in ragging within an educational institute or outside will be an offender under this Act.

(a) A person responsible for causing sexual damage or causing serious injury to a student or a member of staff.

(b) A student or a member of staff of a Higher Educational Institute is made frightened with the intention of forcing him/her to do unlawful things or causing bodily damage or property damage.

(c) In a Higher Educational Institute or premises within the management of that institute, forcing a student or member of staff to do unlawful things or causing obstruction to their personal freedom.

(d) Illegally obstructing a student or member of staff in lawful duties.

(e) Occupying the premises of a Higher Educational Institute or other premises under the management of that institute without permission.

(f) Causing damage to the property of a Higher Educational Institute or any property coming under the management of that institute.

It is observed that during the recent past, Universities and Higher Educational Institutes have not taken adequate action to control ragging under the provisions of this Act and this has caused serious concern among the general public and especially new students.
Despite the fact that the Act was introduced in 1988, there have serious incidents as a result of ragging and in order to implement the provisions of this act promptly, these guidelines have been prepared. The universities and Higher Educational Institutes implement these provisions according to procedures/ By-Laws.
